Foreword

Time is a swift thing—so long to live through yet so short when looked back upon.

We are at that “looking back” point now. Four years have been spent here at the Mount—four years of happiness and tears, fun and work—four long years added to the calendar of eternity.

How does one measure this time? By the inches we’ve grown or the amount of knowledge our minds have acquired? No, rather it is best determined by the development of our character. For it is this Christian character which will enable us to live richer and fuller lives in the world of tomorrow.

Rev. John A. Lynch
Principal

To the Class of 1960

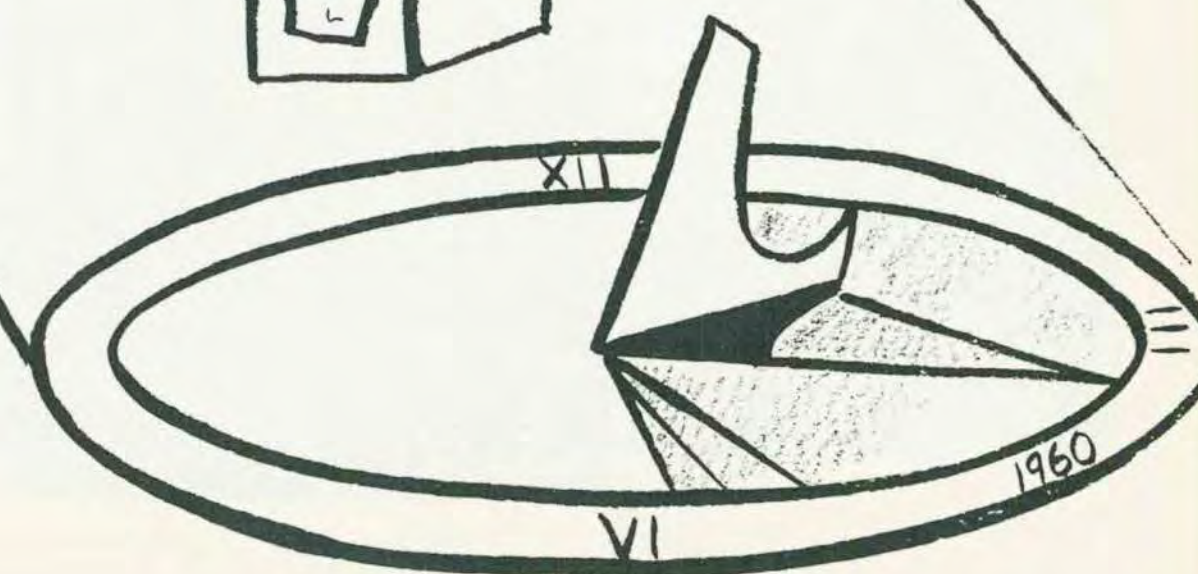

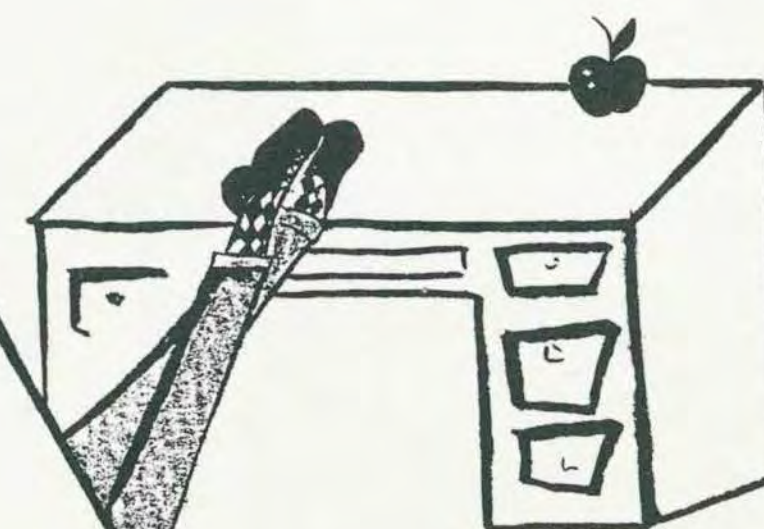

All through the years it has been a popular pastime to look back over the previous decade and look forward through the coming one. This looking backwards and forwards can be very profitable as well as very interesting. Try it! Ten years ago you were getting out of second grade. Ten years from now you will be twenty-eight years old, probably married and established in your vocation or profession. The ten years now gone by seem remote, your high school days seem quickly to have passed. The decade to come seems to be of almost eternal length.

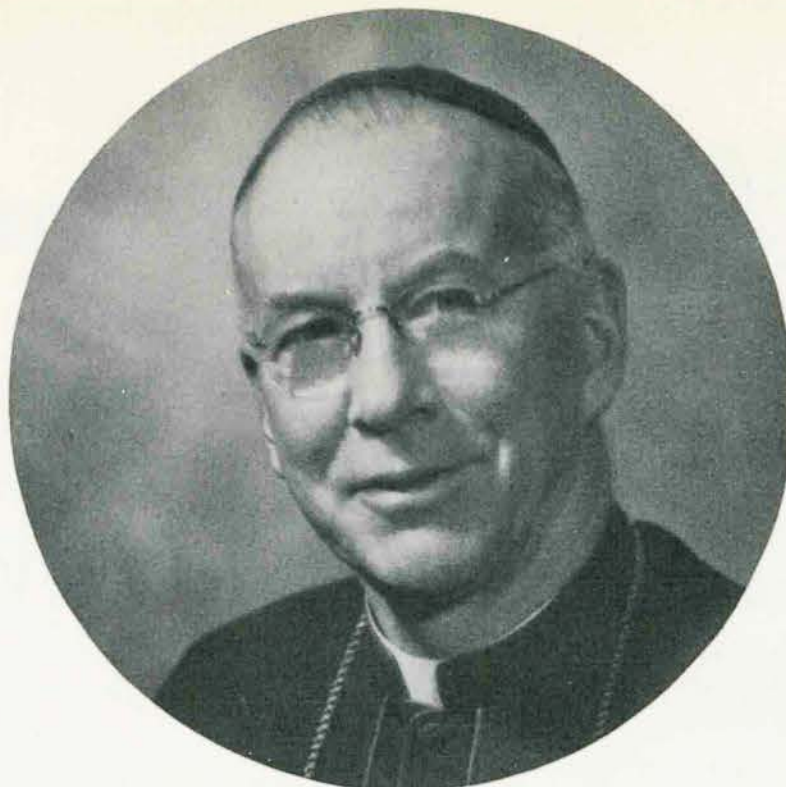

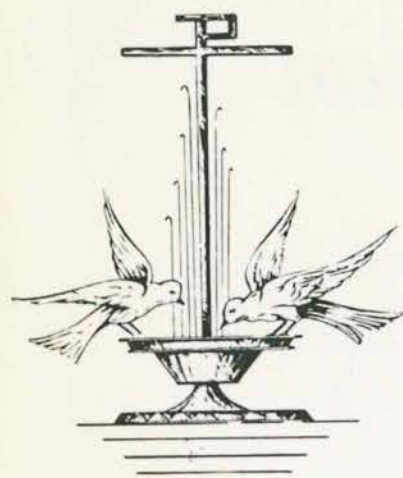

Some great day you will be looking back again—over a lifetime and looking forward into eternity. Then these days will seem remote. Your whole life will seem to have quickly passed. The experience ahead of you will be truly eternal this time. Unlike the gazers into the next decade, you can be positive of what you will see in eternity. You can control what you will see then by the use you make of what you have learned here at the Academy. Our prayer is that you will!

God Bless You All,

Frater Lynch

"Our sore feet" cry the dancing darlings Sandy Miglorie and David Murray while Bonnie Cooper and Dave Cioffi demonstrate their athletic prowess.

Exhausted from his tiring duties as most representatives, Pat Terenzini relaxes for a few moments while Jean Garofano, also most representative, tries to encourage him to get up and continue his duties.

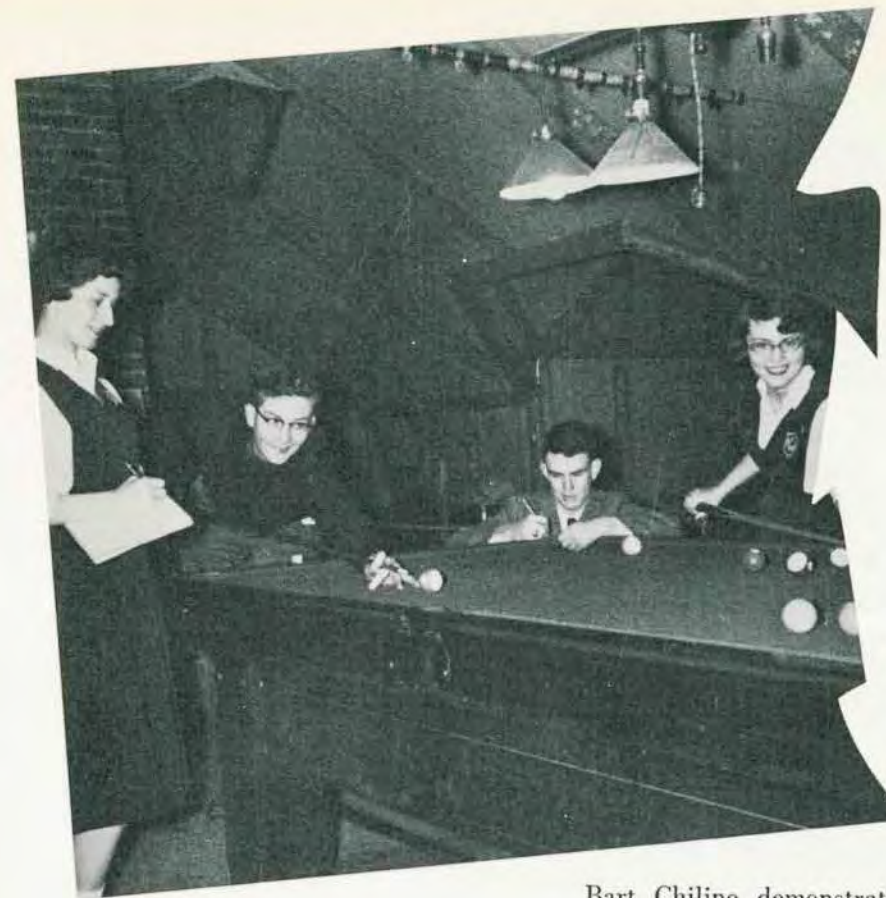

Joe Cotrupi and Phyllis Perry provide "Music to Think By" for most studious Rita LaMotte and Bill Eagan

Class actress Linda Yager, in a dramatic moment, pleads with fellow actor Tom Halpin not to take his life.

Displaying their school spirit, Judy Quigley and Joe Carvey lend a hand in the upkeep of the school corridors.

Bart Chilino demonstrates to Rita LaMotte the first lesson of success—the art of good English as applied to the seven ball. Donna Crosby and Joe Carvey, most businesslike, tabulate their score.

"Somewhere over the rainbow" . . . Carol Accorsi and John Palucci are lost in a mist of dreams.

Class wit, Yvonne Senacle has a draw on pistol packin', saddle stomping, horse hangin' Greg McClallen.

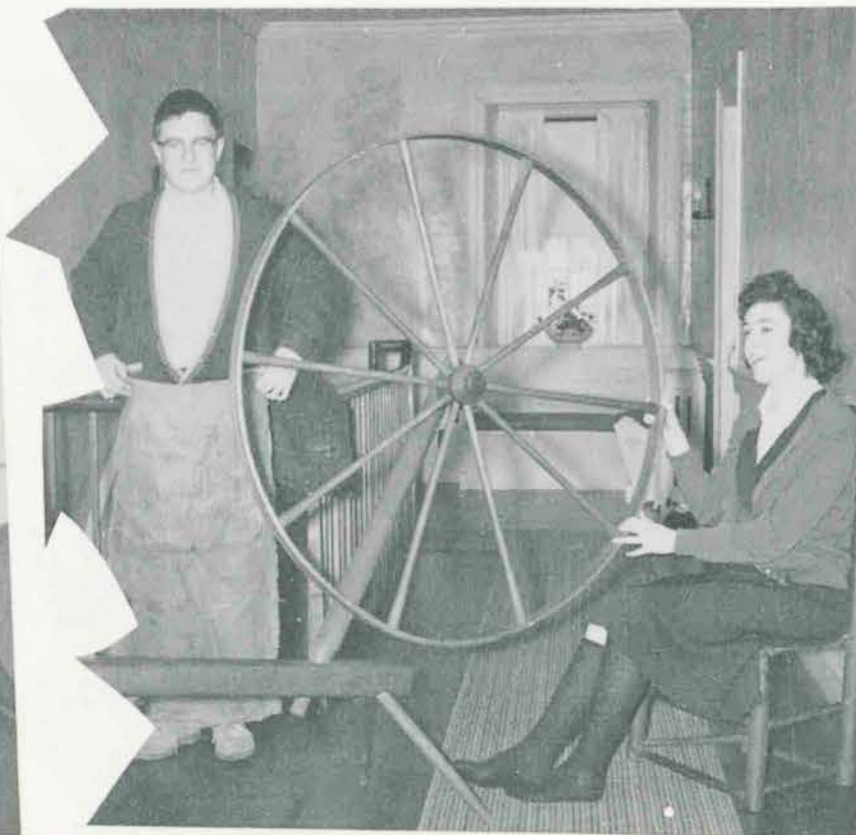

Class taxi-drivers Kay Caggige and Bart Chilino gladly assist best-looking Ed Bishop and Nancy Fucci.

Polite and willing to aid anyone, Pete Badge-wick and Virginia Gee proceed to decapitate best-natured Kay Caggige and Carl Mazzariello.

"Now Tony, pay careful attention," Charlene Mirti tells Tony Marro as our class artists experiment with the intricacies of finger paints.

"But it's that new French material, burlap, and it's so inexpensive to make," practical and shoe-less Mary Jane Foley tells incredulous and practical Bill Eagan.

Living up to their reputation as most dependable, Art Crandall and Paula Flory hack and hammer away at the cast of best all-round, Pat Terenzini, while best all-round Anne O'Rourke holds his poles.

Joe Cotrupi, standing, wants to know, "Doesn't anyone want to hang Frank Shortleaves from the ceiling?" But only a few of the Senior Cabinet members seem to agree as they plan the fate of the Freshmen for their initiation. Seated, l. to r.: Jim Hannon, Carl Mazzariello, Tom Halpin, Pat Terenzini, Kay Caggige, Tony Marro, and Mary Joan McGarry.

These innocent looking Chemistry students blew up about five experiments.

The survivors of Math III diligently plug through Math IV.

"Will I pass?" One can never be sure when taking a course in Mr. Moore's English.

"Anyone for fudge?" asks Sister Mary Virginia while examining a drawing.

Under the supervision of Mr. Cioffi, this sociology class studies world problems.

"Altogether now—one, two, three," says Sister William Marie to her Typing II class.

"But Sister, what does agricola mean?" This question is asked Sister John David by her scholarly Latin IV class.

Preparing for a future in the business world is Sister John Joseph's office practice class.

English II is proving a challenge to these scholars under the supervision of Sister Mary Clementine.

This senior Salesmanship class learns the fundamentals of the course from Sister John Paul.

Preparing for their parts as future homemakers are these five girls under the guidance of Mrs. McGarry.

"Who's on the phone," says Sister John Joseph to her General Business class.

Diligently trying to figure out the mystery of Algebra I are these freshmen under the watchful eye of Sister Ancilla.

Climaxing her four years as an honor student, Rita LaMotte placed as a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship test.

"The quality of mercy is not strained," Sister Bernard Michele teaches her English I class.

We know why Martha Marro likes Math III . . . she's the only girl.

"We've been working on the payroll," in Sister Julia Marie's Bookkeeping I class.

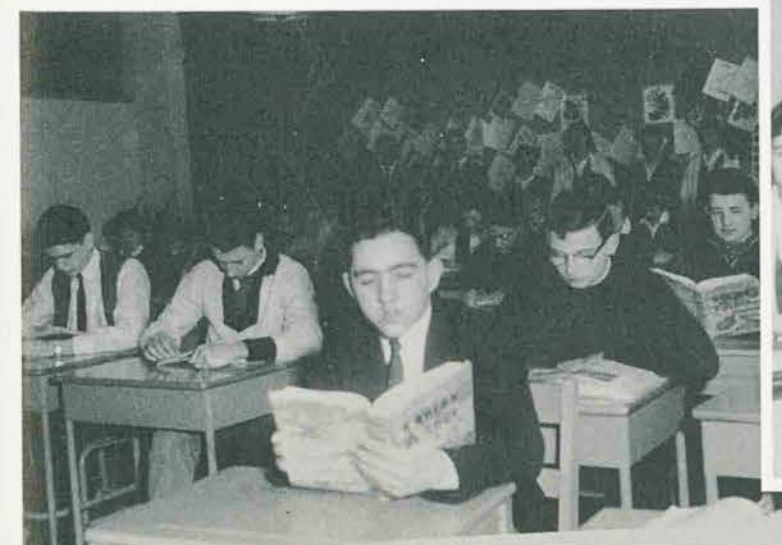

"Ouvrez les livres," says Sister Elizabeth Marie to her French III students.

The students in Sister Jacqueline Marie's General Science class are getting ready for their future Biology classes.

Learning about the "Euglena" from Sister Mary Helena.

They're even standing in line to learn World History from Sister Anna Marie.

Organizations and Activities

Joseph Courcelle, Gregory McClallen, Peter Muscatello, Barry Burke and George Dumouchel, under the supervision of Sister Mary Ancilla and Sister Mary Imelda, are preparing to deliver the Christmas baskets to the needy.

"Hit me—and break our new glass backboard?" says Barry Burke to Council President Patrick Terenzini. The backboard, a Council project, is in use for the first time at the Academy.

This year has been a prosperous one for us with our own Christine being elected to the office of President of the State Student Council Association. She was honored by being chosen as a delegate to The House of Burgesses in Virginia.

OFFICERS:

President: Patrick Terenzini
Vice President: Barry Burke
Secretary: Christine Canney
Treasurer: Anne O'Rourke

Student Council

Among their other activities the Student Council also finds time to sponsor occasional dances throughout the year.

FIRST ROW: Kathleen Boulé, Pamela Miglorie, Christine Canney, Eleanor Purinton, Kathleen Burke, Patricia Cheney. SECOND ROW: Anne O'Rourke, Maureen Connors, Joanne Ferrari, Donna Crosby, Marcia Layden, Paula Vignoe.

The Student Council consists of a body of students, elected by their classmates, to work for the student body.

Some of the duties of the Council are: to manage drives carried on in the school, manage student finances, and make recommendations on any problems that may arise in the school.

This year, under the guidance of Sister M. Ancilla, the Council successfully conducted the annual yearbook and Christmas basket drives; they helped Father Lynch regulate the hall traffic problem, and they worked with the Mothers and Fathers Club to prepare the Academy Dance Program.

Peeking around to catch the latest gossip, Mary Joan copies it all down for future reference.

The business board enjoys a laugh as they hurry to meet their deadline.

"Mr. Mul—muh . . . ahem . . . ah . . . cahy" blurts out Art, as Fr. Lynch comes to his rescue.

"But I don't shave" protests Bucko at the freshman reception.

The seniors are proud of their three sets of twins . . . see the resemblance?

Assisting our ski team in hosting the State Meet are Bonnie Cooper, Sandy Miglorie, Margie Canary, Peggy Fleming, and Phyllis Perry.

Retreat

This year Academy students participated in their annual midyear Retreat under the direction of Father Aloysius Nagle, O. Carm. The entire student body took part in the Retreat, which began the day after midyear exams and lasted for three days. These three days were spent in prayer, meditation, spiritual reading, the sacraments, and conferences with Father Nagle.

The purpose of the Retreat is to bring the student to a closer union with God and remind him of his duties to God, his neighbor, and his country. As Father Nagle told the students, each Retreat works in a different way for each student. It brings to mind serious ideas and ideals often buried by the worries and strain of today's modern world.

This year's Retreat gave us three days of contemplation and peace to realize that we are not just people with the usual everyday troubles, but Catholics with a soul that should spend its eternity with God. But whether or not that soul will find and keep on the right road to Happiness is entirely up to us.

The student body receives the Papal Blessing from Father Nagle, our Retreatmaster.

Father Nagle administers Communion at the Mass which marked the closing of the Retreat.

Our able photographer shows his skill for skiing while covering the state meet at Pico.

Tony "Grantland Rice" Marro pounds out another sports story.

Father Nagle was glad to visit with any of the students that came to see him. Here Thomas Halpin, Judy Quigley, Nancy Fucci and Larry Abbott talk with Father.

Mothers and Fathers Club

The purpose of the Mothers and Fathers Club is to bring closer together the parents and teachers of Academy students. The club endeavors to aid the school board as well as the faculty in the promotion of new ideas and projects.

This year, the two big projects sponsored by the Mothers and Fathers Club were the Dance Program and the reinstatement of the "Clarion" as the school paper.

Coach "Tony" Zingale

In Gratitude

In gratitude for services to Mt. St. Joseph athletic teams, both as an outstanding player and coach, we dedicate to assistant football coach Anthony "Tony" Zingale the sports section of the 1960 MOUNT.

After establishing himself as one of the greatest football players in MSJ history, being elected to both the all-state, of which he was captain, and the high school all-America teams, Tony returned to his alma mater in 1956 to assist coach Fundsie Cioffi. During the past four years he has helped Coach Cioffi turn out some of the strongest teams in Southern Vermont and has been a great aid in the revival of school spirit and football prestige to Mt. St. Joseph.

Coaches Cioffi and Zingale relax for the annual football banquet. "Mmm f-o-o-d!" The joke is on them—the senior players beat them to it.
